This was easily one of the best classes I've taken during my time at this school. It's obvious that a lot of care and intention went into planning the course as a whole. Every reading and lesson was chosen by the professor because she thought it was valuable for us to learn. She really cares about what she is teaching and it's clear to the class. Discussions and debates promoted cross-partisanship and will help me be a better citizen.

Professor Uzzell cares about the well-being of her students and that matters to me, I hope that all professors aspire for that trait.

I thought the course was very interesting and well taught. I liked how the teacher used different sources of readings and not just from a textbook to teach. The professor made class engaging, however ius a harsh grader. She does a good job of giving back feedback.

Huge fan of the course, Professor kept the students engaged

The overall layout of the course was good, and Prof. Uzzell is a clear and engaging lecturer. The amount of reading assigned was higher than I expected, and it took longer than most of the reading for my other classes. It is also up to the students to take good notes in order to succeed on the midterm and final exams because there are little to no notes from Prof. Uzzell on the board during class.

Phenomenal teaching and wonderful professor.

I loved this course with Professor Uzzell. At the beginning of the semester she told us that we would never be able to tell where she fell politically, and would never be able to tell her biases. This proved true throughout the entire course. She never once made someone feel wrong or alienated for their thinking. She encouraged participation and made sure everyone spoke. i also liked the debates because she made us think further and critically about the topics we discussed in class.

I enjoyed Dr. Uzzell's teaching style as well as her motivation to get all of us excited about the topics that she was teaching. I came away from the class with a new understanding of how politics works, its origins, and how we use politics to operate in our society.

I feel like the workload was a bit excessive at times. I talk to students who took POL 100 with other professors and they all said that my course of POL 100 was much harder than the one I took. I feel like she treated it harder than a 100 level course that many people are taking only to fulfill an FDR.

encouraged discourse

They are certainly passionate about the subject.
